World Trusteeship

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.,
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

ON ITS FACE, the new "trustee-annexation" agreement at San Francisco appears a step forward in the handling of areas and peoples which have not arrived at the status of independent nations. Actually, as in the case of so many other clauses of San Francisco's charter for a brave new world, so much depends on subsequent interpretations and on the method of territorial assignments as to make the whole business obscure.

The charter now provides that nations which hold hegemony over peoples of non-independent areas shall report regularly to the new league on their stewardship. Apparently it applies to most present colonies as well as to such areas as the Pacific islands. In addition, nations which undertake such commitments can decide for themselves whether to annex such areas outright or to administer them as mandates. Under the clause it is presumable that annexation will be what it seems, since the system of reporting on administration carries with it the implication that the league will take a hand should any controlling power get off base.

For instance, the United States is expected to be assigned many Pacific islands taken from Japan or which have floated in a rather nebulous state. We can annex them as Hawaii, or we can operate directly as a league trustee. Either way, we report to the league what we are doing with them, as well as with Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Presumably we will be expected to provide economic, social and educational benefits (those are the principal matters which the reports are to cover).

But there is doubt even among the experts as to whether it applies to spots like Alaska and Hawaii. And, to begin with, the clause specifically sidesteps the world's greatest colonial problem, India, by ascribing to her "sovereign equality" with the other United Nations. The Philippines were placed in the same category, but the difference between the status of the Philippines and India is so obvious as to require no space here.

During the war the British used a display of tanks to enforce appointment by King Farouk of Egypt of a premier satisfactory to them. The list of countries which are definitely entities but which operate under governments hand-picked by other nations is a long one. The charter is not at all clear as to their "sovereign status".

COUNCIL ACTS TO RESURFACE THREE STREETS

E. Pershing St. First On Program; County Will Aid Two Jobs

City council last night took definite steps to resurface E. Pershing st. from S. Ellsworth to S. Lincoln ave. and made preliminary moves toward similar repairs on Ohio ave. between Franklin st. and E. State st., and E. Third st. between N. Ellsworth and N. Lincoln ave.

Service Director Frank Wilson was instructed to go ahead with preparations for resurfacing Pershing st.

E. Third st. and Ohio ave. improvements were referred to the finance committee.

The work on Pershing st. will be financed by the city at a cost of $1,695, which will include the application of asphalt resurfacing cost at the rate of 200 pounds per square yard.

Assessment Planned

Cost of repairs on Ohio and Third st. will be borne by the city and by property owners, through assessment, if the finance committee finds the city has the money available.

Ohio ave. will cost in all, $4,894.80, of which assessments to property owners will be $2,187.12 of the cost. The total city cost is estimated at $2,617.68.

Third st. will cost the city $2,654.74 while property owners will pay the balance of $2,070.81. The total cost is $4,725.55.

Finance committee Chairman Harry Vincent explained that it has been the city's policy in the past to assess street residents only twice for street repairs. Consequently, repairs on E. Pershing will be borne by the city because owners there have already been assessed for street repairs two times. Council will first seek the consent of the owners on the two streets before proceeding with assessments.

No approval by the owners is required before the assessment, acting City Solicitor Loefer Caplan, explained.

County Offers Aid

The service director also presented an offer from the county engineer, Charles Snyder, to resurface, with a blade coat, the extension of Jennings ave. from the intersection of W. Tenth st. to the city limits, and E. Tenth st. (Painter road) from N. Lincoln ave. to the city limits.

Wilson said the county would do the work, furnish the asphalt and other materials if the city would buy a total of 350 tons of stone at an estimated cost of $650.

Council approved the plan and recommended that Wilson complete arrangements with the county.

A recommendation for further action by council on a request for the abandonment of an alley, extending from W. State st. to W. Second st. (in the block between N. State st. and Jennings avenue) was Howard and Jennings avenues) was referred to the streets, alleys and sidewalks committee for further consideration.

Walter L. Gray, owner of an abutting property to the alley, asked that it be vacated from State st. to Stark ave. half way through to Second st.

Waterworks Appraised

Councilman Arch Wenzel reported that the appraisal of the water works property ordered some time ago had been completed.

Sewing rooms in the Memorial building are open Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Army Show Arrives In Salem Today

Soldiers Escorted Into City; Stadium Exhibit Due Tomorrow

Veterans of overseas service, forming the unit of "Here's Your Infantry" which will stage a night show at Reilly field Thursday night, arrived in the city early this afternoon from Ravenna.

Officers and men of the unit and the band were met and escorted into the city about 2 p. m. by state highway patrolmen and leaders of the Seventh War Loan drive in Salem.

Arrangements were made this morning to hold a dance for the veterans from 9 to 12 tonight at the Salem Golf club. Don Harvey's orchestra will play for the dance. All service men and women home on furlough are invited.

Between 50 and 60 Salem girls have been invited and station wagons will be at the Memorial building between 8:30 and 9 to take those without transportation to the club house on the Lisbon road. Return transportation also will be provided.

Three-Part Show

The show tomorrow night will be given under flood lights at Reilly stadium. In three parts, it consists of 13 displays of infantry weapons, with veterans showing how they operate and giving basic facts. The weapons include Garand rifles, carbine, automatic rifle, light and heavy machine guns, pistol, 60 and 81 mm. mortars, rocket launcher (bazooka), sub-machinegun, hand grenade, grenade launcher and the flamethrower.

The demonstration also will include booby traps and mines and methods of overcoming them; building of a basic infantry unit into a combat platoon; and as a climax, the re-enactment of an attack on a Jap pillbox, which is a true-to-life projection of infantry in action overseas.

Strip Mining Bill Defeated In House

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, June 20.—Legislation to regulate strip mining—a major recommendation by Gov. Frank J. Lausche—was blasted in the Ohio house of representatives yesterday 58 to 33, with 69 affirmative votes needed for passage.

"It is beyond my understanding why the legislature failed to adopt this measure, the sole purpose of which was to compel strip miners to quit butchering and desecrating nature," the governor said in a statement.

"We spend millions of dollars of taxpayers' money to conserve natural resources. The taxpayer is giving liberally to rebuild nature. The strip miner is profiting exorbitantly in destroying nature."

"It will be too late two years from now to pass a law of this character, because by then the damage will be irreparable."

Sponsored by representatives from eastern Ohio where strip mining is conducted by large corporations, the measure ran into bitter opposition from southern county members.

The Tokyo radio admitted fires raged out of control for five hours in Toyohashi, also on the main island of Honshu.

Fukuoka, on the southernmost island, Kyushu, was turned into a pre-dawn bonfire, pilots reported. Fukuoka has a population of 525,000. Toyohashi 242,000 and Shizuoka 212,000.

Radio Tokyo said 60 other B-29s, continuing the aerial blockade of home waters, laid mines off in the west coast of Honshu and in the Kannon strait between Honshu and Kyushu.

3 JAP CITIES LEFT BURNING

3,000 Tons of Incendiaries Are Deposited By Superfortresses

(By Associated Press)

GUAM, June 20.—Superfortresses dumped 3,000 tons of fire bombs on three Japanese industrial cities today, setting wind-fanned blazes which pilots said were visible 75 miles away and wiped from the map as a war target the munitions center of Shizuoka, 85 miles southwest of Tokyo.

The 450 Superfortresses treated these secondary industrial cities to the same ordeal by fire that has erased most of the factories in Japan's greater cities.

Potato Politics

The United States, we are told, must share its food with Europe. There is no serious objection to that. But doubts begin to form when we are told that this must be done to save Europe from political chaos.

It may as well be understood now that the people who are going to do the food-sharing have no faith in potato politics to keep Europe from reaping the whirlwind of its political excesses and mistakes.

American food is eagerly received, but American ideas are in competition with something that calls itself communism, but really isn't. In reality, it is the last desperate alternative to some degree of self-government—the ultimate consequence of social insecurity.

Representative democracy is no antidote for insecurity. It is time for Americans to admit to themselves what most Americans know—that Europeans made a mess of self-government after 1918 because they already were too far gone into decadence to give it a fair trial. Their failure helped set the stage for World War II. They have less chance to get anywhere with self-government in 1945 than they had in 1918.

It was not Russian Communism that the counter-revolutionists who seized control in Italy and Germany feared so much as the chaos in which revolutionists with communist ideas would find fertile soil for their ideas. All over the world, the collapse of security had been the signal for revolutionists and counter-revolutionists to compete for the remains of moribund societies. The names they used were unimportant. All operated on the same principle—that desperate populations could be brought to heel and held there by dictatorial control. It just happened that the so-called communists became the most active opportunists. Mussolini, starting as a so-called socialist, was to set the pattern of fascism. Hitler, calling himself a National Socialist and preaching a doctrine not unlike state socialism, elaborated on it. The names of movements conceal as much as they reveal.

There isn't enough food in the United States—there isn't enough on earth—to stop Europe's deterioration. It has been exhausted by too many wars and too many costly errors of judgment. The Russians, who realize this, being closer to the condition aren't depending on potatoes to carry out their obligations to create discipline in their European areas. No one has seen what they the Russians are depending on, but in dealing with the same condition in their own country for the last generation they have relied on discipline alone.

The role of Nation Bountiful for Europeans has been left for America, and that is as it should be. It bothers some of us, apparently because of misgivings about coming off second best to Russia, but that is because some of us forget that politics still hasn't become the greatest ultimate force in western civilization—only the noisiest and bloodiest. The greatest force is Christianity. Americans will share their food with Europeans because of Christianity, not because of confidence in the schemes of strategists to play international politics with potatoes.

The Law and Harry Bridges

The feeling of frustration in the wake of the Harry Bridges case, now seven years old, has been deepened by the Supreme court's ruling that the deportation order standing against him is invalid on a point of technicality.

For seven years, Mr. Bridges, who came to this country from Australia in 1920, has been fighting for the right to stay here. The question in his case is his political and economic views, specifically whether or not he ever belonged to any Communist organization.

Mr. Bridges himself has become relatively unimportant. His case has been the means of forcing a showdown on the question of the right of any person advocating overthrow of the United States government to enjoy this government's protection. The Bridges case has been the inspiration for lengthy discussion of this sensitive issue. It has been reviewed in the press and in Congress. It has drawn the close attention of some of the country's best legal minds. If it could be settled, the court decision automatically would become the key to the nation's security.

But there is no immediate prospect that the issue which has arisen over the right of Harry Bridges to stay in the United States is going to be settled. The Supreme court, in effect, has sidestepped it. Congress has shown no strong inclination to settle it, though five years ago the House of Representatives passed a bill to deport Bridges, by a vote of 339 to 42. The same year Congress put more teeth into the government's deportation authority, after the Supreme court had sidestepped the same issue in the Strecker case in 1939. Mr. Bridges, meanwhile, has been going about his business of being a well-known radical, with as much security in that position as it is given to most men to enjoy in the course of a lifetime. Truly, this is a great country, to be able to give its critics the benefit of a doubt.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, June 21.

STRANGE and unpredictable conditions are indicated by the ruling aspects, with prospect of the intimate, romantic or emotional phases of life in the leading role. This should be dramatic and adventurous, with factors that might incite impulsively to shout thrilling developments from the housetops. This would be rash and perilous, since only the soundest of reflection, far-reaching consideration, and a conservative weighing of all elements involved would attain security and long-range results. Patience, diligence, restrained emotions, and sound advice, should outweigh erratic or turbulent moves inciting to separations, regrets and uprootings.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by strange situations, exciting, deep seated and turbulent, where the emotions, stimulated for the dramatic, romantic and high adventure, might be impelled to rash, reckless and spectacular behavior causing separations, estrangements, and various unpredictable denouements.

Tempestuous or erratic drives should be most definitely and decisively held in leash with cool consideration of all values and crises at issue studiously analysed, and sound ideas and hard work constructively used for enduring and far-reaching happiness and progress. Wise counsel should prevail.

A child born on this day may be disposed to romantic, adventurous and emotional or sensational conduct, although it has sound ideas, practical and workable objectives at the source. These should be cultivated to gain a progressive, romantic and happy life.

A Request From the Krupps

A prime example of the arrogant stupidity of the German upper crust may be found in a petition filed the other day in Bremen by Waldrant Krupp von Bohlen, one of the heiresses of the Krupp munitions dynasty.

Fraulein von Bohlen asks, with a straight face, that the American authorities cancel the personal decree by which Adolf Hitler nationalized the firm. Her obvious intention is that the Allies simply allow the war-mongering Krupps to set up shop again, probably upon the pious promise that they will make nothing but farm machinery or perhaps perambulators.

Such thinking would seem to pass out of the realm of stupidity and into unconsciousness. Apparently the Krupps are unaware that anyone suspects that they were a prime force behind two world wars. They seem convinced that their self-importance will exempt them from the victors' announced intention of demilitarizing Germany completely.

We worry about de-educating and re-educating Nazi youth. What about the problem of awakening the minds of a family which was one of the supporting pillars of prewar industrial Germany?

Less and less meat means the strict vegetarian can eat as much of it as he did before—and just about as much as the rest of us.

The Big Three meeting will take place near Berlin, says President Truman. Are they sure they can find a building in which to meet?

It's funny how one day of real hot sun cools off all the cussing over colds, sinus and coughing.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Nose and Throat Infections

BY HERMAN N. BUNDEN, M.D.

ANY infection in the nose and throat is a threat to the eustachian tubes. That is, the germs which are causing the infection may get into the eustachian tubes. These tubes, that is, the germs which middle part of the ear and frequently the infection in the nose or throat gets to the ear through these tubes.

According to Doctor H. W. Schwartz of Canada, to keep the eustachian tubes acting normally, it is important in the treatment of middle-ear infections. To do this, he suggests that the patient be kept at rest in bed, and that the throat be washed with hot salt solution with the patient's body bent well forward. This will help the patient to avoid coughing during the washing of the throat.

Nose Infection

If there is infection in the nose, Doctor Schwartz suggests the use of ephedrine in salt solution, and the breathing in of steam. If, with this treatment the examination of the ear drum shows it to be red and bulging, it is evident that the infection in the ear has progressed and the ear drum must then be cut open to allow infected material to drain out.

It is shown that almost three times as many operations on the mastoid are necessary in those cases of middle ear infection in which the drum is allowed to break open, as in those which are cut open before rupture occurs. The mastoid sinus is the space in the bone back of the ear.

Doctor Schwartz thinks that with this treatment more than 80 per cent of the patients with an acute infection of the middle ear will recover in from a few days to several weeks.

Sulfonamide Drugs

The question then arises as to whether or not giving of the sulfonamide drugs may be useful in these infections. Doctor Schwartz is of the opinion that their use in acute middle ear infections is not advisable since they tend to hide the symptoms and thus mastoid complications may develop without being recognized.

Of course, there are many physicians who do not agree with this at all. In any event, if the sulfonamide drugs are given, the patient must be carefully watched daily to make sure that all is going well. When the sulfonamide drugs are given, the patient's temperature returns to normal quickly and the other symptoms, such as pain in the ear, rapidly vanish.

There seems to be more and more of a tendency to save the sulfonamide drugs for those conditions which are serious and not waste their use on disorders which can be successfully treated in other ways.

Dr. Bundesen will answer letters containing medical questions only through his column. Address your inquiries to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, 233 E. 45th st., New York City.

A SONG to REMEMBER

XXXVI

THE tour! The Grand Tour! Vienna, Berlin, Antwerp, London, Budapest, Milan, Rome, Florence, Madrid! He played to audiences that packed theaters, opera houses, salons. Crowds stood for hours in long queues in the rain, snow, sleet to purchase tickets. There was no satisfying the crowds. They cried for more, and always for more. Frederic played his great works, the Military Polonaise, the Bal-lades, the Barcarole, the B Flat Scherzo, among others. His success was beyond even the dreams of Louis Pleyel. But the strain of the tour showed on Frederic.

"When you walk out on the stage and see all those people in front of you, looking up at you, you must not cry or run away. Hold your head up, firm. Pritschen, show me exactly how you are going to hold your head up." Then he answered, "I will hold it like this, Mamma." She had smiled at him. "Yes, firm. And always, no matter what happens, hold your head up."

He held it up, even though at times he had to be carried onto the stage, he was so weak.

But the audiences roared, and they paid their money to see him and to hear him, and that's all that mattered.

One critic called him "the boldest and proudest poetic spirit of the times!"

"Exhaustion! He fought it off. He would finish the tour. His chest—the tightness—if it would only go away. He tried to cough it away."

"If only the tightness—"

The Salle Pleyel, Paris.

The Polonaise! The great Polonaise! The final chords—and the tour would be ended. If only his strength would carry him to the end.

His fingers danced on the keys.

The audience roared. And Jozef Elsner sat proudly in a box between a smiling Louis Pleyel and a smiling Kalkbrenner.

The great room was packed and a thousand voices cried "Bravo! Bravo!"

Frederic, exhausted, rose to acknowledge for the last time the applause. He tried bravely to smile. He tried to wave.

He fell. He threw up his arms. He coughed. He coughed—blood!

Jozef Elsner screamed, "Frederic!"

But his voice was lost in the tumult.

A few persons were admitted to the room where Frederic lay in bed, wracked by a cough.

Mile. Konstancja tiptoed to the bedside.

He looked at her. "The Professor—"

"Yes, Frederic. He will be here."

"Louis Pleyel was there and Franz Liszt was there and so was the critic Kalkbrenner."

Only Jozef Elsner was not there. Frederic moved his lips. They made no sound. Mile. Gladkowska leaned close to hear what they were trying to say.

"Yes," he was saying. "You hear me?"

"Frederic, a little louder."

He summoned greater effort.

"The piano. I would like to hear it. Would Franz play for me?"

"Yes. Of course, Frederic."

Mile. Gladkowska crossed the room.

Jozef Elsner had been searching the city for George Sand. He found her at last in the studio of Eugene Delacroix, where she was sitting for her portrait.

The painter noticed Elsner in the doorway. He addressed Madame Sand. "Shall we pause for a moment?"

"Not necessary, Eugene. I am not tired."

Jozef Elsner walked to the dias on which she was seated. "Frederic has asked for you, Madame. He is dying."

George held her pose. Her voice was impersonal. "Are you satisfied, Monsieur?"

Jozef Elsner worked his jaw. "Do you know anything, Monsieur, that can replace a life as great as his?"

Jozef Elsner put his hand to his jaw. He nodded. "Will you come to see him, Madame?"

George lost her pose for just a second. "I think not, Monsieur."

"Only to see him, Madame?"

"Frederic is mistaken to want me. Good day, Monsieur." She had resumed her pose. "Continue, Eugene. I am sorry for the interruption."

Jozef Elsner worked his hat on his head. He walked to the door. He looked back but their eyes never met again.

Sh—Liszt is playing.

Sh—Chopin is dying.

Frederic looked into the great, warm, misty eyes of Jozef Elsner.

"She is ill, Frederic. Nothing else could have kept her away."

He smiled faintly. His hand felt the hand of Jozef Elsner. Their faces were very close together.

"—You hear me Professor?"

"—Eh?" Jozef Elsner put his ear to Frederic's mouth.

"It's like going home," Frederic whispered.

"—Home. That's right. We're home, Frederic. Yes, Frederic—close your eyes. It's been a long trip—and we're tired—both of us—"

Frederic's eyes closed heavily.

"—But Paris, Frederic—Paris was wonderful—wasn't it? Well—what did I tell you? Eh?"

Frederic never opened his eyes.

$3,735 Overcharge Cited In Purchase For State

COLUMBUS, June 20—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today announced an examiner's finding for recovery of $3,735 against the J. E. Harris Co. of Wooster and William E. Crisp of Akron, whom he identified as a manufacturing agent and said the amount represented an overcharge on roof coating sold to the state highway department.

Ferguson also reported he was withholding payment of $1,955 on invoices for roof coating delivered to the department but still unpaid at the time he started his investigation.

The examiner's report covered purchases from 1941 through 1944.

The state auditor said the state was charged prices ranging from 80 cents to $1.10 per gallon for the coating but OPA ceiling prices listed by the company gave 75 cents as the ceiling for their best brand in one-gallon lots and 65 cents per gallon for the same brand in five-gallon lots.

Recreation And Demings Win Thrillers In Class A Softball

Bruderly Hurls One-Hit Game To Defeat Boosters As Recs Beat Oils, 3 to 2

Two top-notch contests marked play in Class A softball at Centennial park last night as the Recreation defeated the Boosters with a six-run, 3-2, and Demings served further notice by taking Leetonia, 3-0, that they are going to be plenty troublesome before this first round is over.

Kenny Bruderly, hurling his second game for Demings, turned in the best pitching show of the season. He limited Leetonia to a single hit, walked but two men and struck out three. Leetonia was handcuffed all the way, despite an excellent pitching job by Don Herrold.

Herrold threw three-hit ball, but two errors by his teammates and a lone walk spelled enough trouble to put him on the losing side of the ledger.

The Pumpers gave Bruderly an easy feeling by stepping off to a 1-0 lead in the second frame. Bruderly started it himself by slugging out a single to lead off. Ralph Phyllis was safe on an error and Bruderly erased the plate with the first run.

In the sixth Kenny Headland walked to lead off and Brown was on as a result of a fielder's choice. Dick McArthur got on base the same way as Herrold attempted to field bunts and play for the advancing base runners.

With the bases loaded and no one down, Al Sanders smacked out a two-run double to make the total.

Leetonia's only hit came in the second when John Clunen laid out a double.

The Recreation staged a real old time comeback to give Ralph Gregg his fourth win in six starts.

The Sinclairs began well, caging a pair of runs in the third on hits by Lee Shaffer, Eddie Boswick and Dave Ritchie. Dick Hahn, who made it on a fielder's choice, and Boswick, scored the pair. Both Boswick and Ritchie got two baggers.

The first Rec run came in the fourth when Wink Miller scored on Charlie Huffer's single after Miller had led off with a one bagger. Huffer's pop single over third base landed right on the chalk line to score the run.

In the sixth, trailing by a single run, the Recs put Hurier Mutt Schaeffer in deep hot water. Miller led off with his second hit in two times up and Jim Jackson singled to advance him. Bill Pauline laid down a nice bunt to load the bases with no one down.

Schaeffer then walked Cornelius Sobotka with the tying run and the winning marker came in when Walt Mellinger, with two away, popped a nice single over third base to score Pauline, making it 3-2.

Gregg fanned one and walked no one, but Schaeffer had one strikeout and six walks.

Most Colleges Favor Aid To Some Athletes

NEW ORLEANS, June 20—Some form of aid for student athletes who show need and scholastic promise is favored by the nation's college presidents.

Responding to a questionnaire from the American College Publicity association, 85 of 131 schools answered "yes" to the question: "Does your college president think that in cases of students who show need, scholastic and athletic promise that some form of grant-in-aid is justifiable?"

Heads of 32 institutions said they thought such aid was not justifiable, while 15 declined to give an opinion and one said he was doubtful.

TRIO OF CASTOFF HURLERS PERFORM WELL IN MAJORS

Wolff, Hausman, Bowman Show Top Form in Winning For Teams

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

A trio of castoff pitchers demonstrated last night they might have an important bearing on the National and American league pennant races.

The three, Roger Wolff of Washington, Clem Hausmann of the Boston Red Sox and Joe Bowman of Cincinnati, each turned in a gilt-edged mound effort to blank their opposition in 31 innings.

Wolff, the 32-year-old veteran, who reached the majors via Philadelphia at the advanced age of 29, and was traded to the Senators at the end of the 1943 season, held his former teammates to one hit in the opener to help the Nats win a doubleheader from the Athletics, 6-0 and 5-3.

Seven Out of Ten

Only 28 men faced the knuckleball expert. Hal Peck's fourth inning double ruined his quest for a no-hitter. The triumph was Wolff's seventh against three defeats. In each of his losses he gave up but one run.

Clem Hausmann, 25-year-old right-hander, whom the New York Yankees thought so little of when he pitched for their Kansas City farm two years ago, that they allowed the Red Sox to draft him, turned on his former employers and whitewashed the Yankees with three hits to eke out a 1-0 decision.

The victory, Hausmann's second straight 1-0 three-hitter, and his fourth in a row, put the third place Boston one half a game behind the Yankees, who dropped to two games behind the league-leading Detroit Tigers. Hank Borowy was the victim.

Bowman Wins

Bowman, 35-year-old veteran who has seen service with six clubs, and only a month ago was obtained on waivers from the Red Sox, turned in his fourth win without a defeat for the Reds with a brilliant 13-inning 1-0 triumph over the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals.

After battling on even terms with Charlie Barrett of the Redbirds for 12 scoreless innings, Catcher Al Unser, another American league castoff, via the Tigers, singled home Al Liske from second for the winning run.

Detroit increased its first place American league lead a full game over the Yankees by whipping the Cleveland Indians 4-3 in a twilight tilt before 20,351 fans. Frank Overmire, third Detroit hurler, took over in the ninth to save the decision for starter Zeb Eaton.

With General Dwight D. Eisenhower looking on, the New York giants continued their downward slide, losing to Boston, 9-2, as Jim Tobin held them to eight hits. The defeat, their fourth straight and 18th in their last 23 starts, dropped them to three percentage points above the second division.

In the only other major league contest, Chicago's White Sox defeated St. Louis' Browns 5-4, scoring four runs in the seventh aided by Vern Stephens' two errors.

By Brooklyn and the Phillies were rained out while Pittsburgh and Chicago were not scheduled.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Eisenhower Takes In A Ball Game

Gen. Eisenhower takes in a baseball game at the Polo grounds with the Giants and the Braves opposing each other. At the left is Manager Bob Coleman of the Braves and at right is Manager Mel Ott of the Giants. They gave "Ike" autographed baseballs.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr., NEW YORK, June 20.—As an aftermath of last winter's basketball scandal, Brooklyn college has created the post of administrator of athletic eligibility (men) and appointed Verne Booth, star distance runner of 20 years ago and a member of the 1924 Olympic team, to the new job.

Commissioner Happy Chandler's contract still is circulating around the big league club owners, collecting signatures.

SO LONG, FRIENDS

The sports writing profession had lost two outstanding members in the past few days, Sid Mercer and Jack Miller, writers who pursued different methods of attaining the same objective. Mercer's method was critical analysis while Miller specialized in barbed wit, but they both struck at weak spots regardless of whom might be hurt by their criticism. One of the high spots in Mercer's career was a feud with John McGraw which arose when the Giant manager challenged Sid's veracity. After a formal hearing, Mercer was vindicated. Miller was the central figure in the battle of the hotel lobby at Tampa when Dizzy Dean took a more active and colorful way of expressing his objections to criticism. Such men won't be forgotten soon.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

After Golfer Johnny Bulla turned in his second-place score in the Philadelphia open Sunday, he hurried to New York and flew to Atlanta. He had just time there to take a shower and don his uniform before taking the controls of an air liner bound for Chicago, where he arrived Monday morning, 13 hours and 1,500 miles from the 18th green. Manager Eddie Walker, who is selling Chaiky Wright's contract to Jack Bluman for either $10,000 or $7,000 (depending on who tells it), bought the Chalk from Gus Wilson eight years ago for $300. And Wright only cost Gus a pack of cigars. Walker adds. Sounds like something over the ceiling price for cigs.

Mel Harder About Ready For Action

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, June 20.—Veteran Mel Harder is about ready to toe the rubber again for the Cleveland Indians.

Manager Lou Boudreau indicated yesterday that the 36-year-old Mel, now in his 18th season with the Indians, may see action Sunday against the Chicago White Sox for the first time this season.

And the fans hope he may provide the necessary stuff to end the Indians' decent defeat diet.

Mel was employed at a Willoughby, O., rubber plant last winter and was unable to leave his job for spring training camp. However, he reported after the team returned to Cleveland and has been turning into shape on regular workouts.

The Indians face the first place Detroit Tigers again today with Al Smith on the mound. Hal Newhouser, who has nine wins against only four losses will pitch for Detroit.

The Tigers defeated the Tribe 4 to 3 in the series opener yesterday behind the six-hit pitching of three of their mound corps. Steve Gromek was the loser and Zeb Eaton the winner. Les Mueller and Stubby Overmire aided in subduing the Clevelanders.

COLUMBIANA "A" SOFTBALL BEGINS

Case's Clippers Win Over All-Stars In Opening Of New Park League

Opening of the Class A softball picture at Columbian's Firestone park was heralded last night with an 8-3 victory by the Case Clippers over a somewhat excited All-Star outfit.

The victory, chalked up to Bob Anstram of the Clippers, puts the Case outfit to the front in the newly organized A loop. Three other teams, the Boosters, the South Side Tigers and Winings, are in the loop.

The Clippers, behind eight hits and with but three errors, cashed in on six walks issued by losing hurler Carl Sheets and nine team errors to pile up two runs in each of the first, second and third frames. First tallies made the total in the fourth and seventh.

The losers scored once in the first and twice in the third to garner their total. Anstram allowed five hits, struck out seven and walked two. Sheets struck out one, allowed eight hits and walked six.

The Boosters meet the South Side Tigers in a game at 6 tonight.

COUNCIL

ago, had been completed by a board of engineers preparatory to issuance of special mortgage revenue bonds to finance the building of the new water reservoir. Solicitor Caplan was instructed to draw up legislation for issuance of the bonds.

The Gotha Engineering Co.'s request for permission to install a sewer from its plant into the city's system on W. State st. was discussed further but no action was taken.

Walter M. Worman, city electrician, asked council to create a civil service job of assistant electrician, to aid him with his work.

Worman said he cares for 800 street lights, 19 traffic lights, 10 electrical pumps in the city water fields, the police call system, the fire alarm system, the city hall and still must take care of tree-trimming and regular maintenance work.

The matter was approved by both the safety and lighting committees but President of Council C. F. Zimmerman referred it to the lighting committee for further study.

Council appealed for citizens to trim trees around city lights so that more illumination can be secured.

The mayor's report for the month of May showed an income of $408.40. Of that, building permits netted $4, city licenses $72, city fines, $237.60, state patrol $50 and city costs $44.80.

CROSELY SELLS OUT, WILL MAKE AUTOS

(By Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, June 20.—Powel Croseley, who transformed a hobby of "tinkering" into one of the nation's biggest radio broadcasting, manufacturing and household appliance businesses, henceforth will concentrate on the making of small automobiles, the postwar designs for which already are "set."

Crosey's huge plant and properties, including Station WLW, have been sold to Aviation Corp. of New York in a deal announced yesterday involving $22,000,000. Ten banks will finance it.

"My decision to sell was based on personal considerations, one of which is my desire to concentrate on the manufacture of the Croseley auto," Croseley said.

The sale includes Radio Station WLW, one of the nation's best-known broadcasting stations, several frequency modulation stations and Croseley's experimental television station.

In addition, an option held on station WINS, New York, goes to the purchaser. Croseley signed a contract to buy WINS a few months ago but approval of that transaction is yet to come from the Federal Communications commission.

Crosey, owner of the Cincinnati Reds baseball team, said "the team is not for sale at this time."
